VPASA on the National Lockdown

The Vapour Products Association of South Africa (VPASA) is currently monitoring developments on COVID-19. The new measures will impact all South African industries, including vaping.

As a priority we are seeking clarity over whether vape stores are to be included in those essential premises that can remain open, given their vital role in helping people to stop smoking. This is particularly important during such an unprecedented public health crisis.

We will continue to support the South African vaping industry in whatever ways are necessary, while ensuring that our members' commitment to public health is fully met.

The Vapour Products Association of South Africa will issue a full statement when all the facts are fully known.

Sincerely,

Asanda Gcoyi
VPASA CEO
